

Part-time position for online documentary

Local firm, in coordination with a Los Angeles production company, is producing documentary/news short videos on current geopolitical topics to be streamed online. The presentations will primarily consist of interviewing figures on each side of an issue. The interviewees will be government or organizational representatives.

We are looking for someone to help identify and research the topics as well as conduct some of the interviews. Ideal opportunity for Journalism/Media student

This is a paid position. Rate will be based on experience/qualifications.

Most work can be done out of the office during flexible work hours.

English and German language skills preferred.

Start date: early April 2017

Please send CV or document detailing experience to davidk@clearskyventures.at